

GRIEP Workshop — Call for Papers

Global Repercussions of International Economic Policies

21-22 November 2024 | Galatasaray University | Istanbul, Türkiye

Submission deadline: 30 September 2024

We invite submissions for the Workshop on “Global Repercussions of International Economic Policies” at Galatasaray University in Istanbul, Türkiye.

The workshop will bring together leading economists working on the economic implications of globalization, particularly economic policies’ effects beyond borders. Topics include — but are not limited to — the effects of trade policies, e.g. on labour markets, the effects of sanctions on third countries, and shifts in global trade and investment under increasing political fragmentation.

The event is jointly organized by the Kiel Institute for the World Economy, the Globalization Chair at the Paris School of Economics, Bielefeld University, TED University Ankara, and the Central Bank of the Republic of Türkiye and hosted by Galatasaray University Economic Research Center (GIAM).

Thierry Mayer (Sciences Po Paris) will give the keynote lecture.

Accommodation will be provided to accepted speakers. PhD and Postdoc scholars are encouraged to apply. A travel grant will be awarded to two junior researchers.

Submissions until midnight, 30 September 2024, via email to submissions@griep-workshop.org.

Submissions of full papers (including draft versions) are preferred. Each paper will be assigned a discussant. Invited speakers will be notified by 7 October 2024.

Scientific Committee: Julian Hinz (Kiel & Bielefeld), Levke Jessen-Thiesen (Kiel), Cem Özgüzel (CES & PSE), Seyit Mumin Cilasun (TEDU), Bilge Öztürk Gürtuna (GIAM), Sandra Poncet (PSE), Lionel Fontagné (Banque of France & PSE), Huzeyfe Torun (Central Bank of the Republic of Türkiye).

Find more information at <https://griep-workshop.org>.

